CO-HONOREES

John Malizia, CEO of A1 Roofing of Long Island, grew up in Mount Sinai where he now lives with his wife, Erin, and their three children: Johnny (11), Natalie (8) and Joseph (2 ½). John studied at St. Joseph's College where he earned a Business Management Degree. He is an actively involved parishioner at Infant Jesus Church in Port Jefferson and serves on the parish CMA Board and the parish Finance Committee. Serving on the Seminary Golf Committee, John has been notable for his steady commitment to our cause. He is a faith-filled husband and father, deeply committed to the Church and to encouraging and supporting vocations to the priesthood. We are grateful for this opportunity to express our appreciation and respect for all that he does for our Church, our Seminary and our seminarians.

Msgr. Steven R. Camp was born on March 13, 1959. Raised in East Williston, he was a member of St. Aidan's Parish, Williston Park. His parents were active parishioners, and involved in many activities beyond the parish as well. Their example of service to the Church and wider community was inspirational in watering the seeds of vocation to priesthood. Following his 1977 graduation from The Wheatley School in Old Westbury, Monsignor attended Oblate College, Washington, DC (earning a BA degree in Philosophy and a Minor in History & Psychology), and the Sacred Heart School of Theology in Hales Corners, Wisconsin. Because of his interest in religious education, Monsignor entered the Congregation of the Marians - mainly because they operated high schools. Following his ordination to priesthood on May 10, 1987, he taught for a few years and later served at a Marian parish. He returned to his home Diocese of Rockville Centre in 1994 and became associate pastor of St. Jude's Church in Mastic Beach, followed by his assignment to St. William the Abbot in Seaford in 1997. Appointed pastor of St. Christopher's Church in Baldwin in 2005, he served there until 2017 when he became pastor of St. Patrick's Church in Huntington. He was named Chaplain to His Holiness by Pope Benedict on April 23, 2010. Among his many activities over the past several years, he has been a member of the Presbyteral Council, College of Consultors, Pastors Council for Schools, Diocesan Assessment Committee, Admissions Board for the Permanent Diaconate - in the Diocese of Rockville Centre - and member of the USCCB National Advisory Board. Currently he is Chaplain for Irish Americans in Government and the Baldwin and Seaford Fire Departments. Throughout the Diocese of Rockville Centre, Msgr. Camp is well known for his enthusiastic support and encouragement of our seminarians and newly ordained priests. His effectiveness in parish leadership and in the community at large are deserving of recognition and acknowledgment on a larger scale. It is our privilege to honor him in July.

Supporting our seminarians, our future priests!
