COME MEET
FR. JOHN MORRISON

Speaking on:
C. S. Lewis and the Moral Imagination: of marshwiggles and dragons, apostate clerics and lizards.

Although C. S. Lewis believed that “reason is the natural organ of truth,” he also believed that textbooks and catechisms might not be the best way to convey the urgent truths about the moral life. For that, literature and the “baptized imagination” can most effectively convey and receive important truths.

FR. MORRISON’S BIO

Father John Morrison is an Episcopal priest and retired high school English teacher. He holds degrees from Dartmouth, Hofstra, and SUNY Stony Brook. Fr. Morrison has attended many C. S. Lewis Summer Institutes in the United Kingdom, and has taught courses on religious and literary topics. From 1982 until 2000, he was an instructor in Literature and Theology at the George Mercer, Jr. Memorial School of Theology in Garden City. He is a long-time member of the New York C. S. Lewis Society and the author of To Love Another Person: A Spiritual Journey Through Les Miserables. This is Fr. Morrison’s second contribution to our book series. In 2015, he presented a talk on the novels of Michael O’Brien.

* The Seminary is 3 miles North of Main Street in Huntington village. Library is on the 4th floor.
